

The HKFYG Leadership Institute Summer School for Global Leadership 2022 Working Team Recruitment

About Summer School for Global Leadership 2022

RESILIENT CITY PLANNER

With the global population living in urban cities projected to reach 66% by 2050, the building of sustainable and resilient cities has become a common focus across the world in the recent decade.

Being regarded as a megacity, Hong Kong is at high risk of natural hazards, such as flooding, typhoons, storm surges, and heatwaves. These events often trigger flooding and landslides, potentially causing devastating damage to the city. Besides, they are also suffering from chronic stresses like traffic congestion, pollution, and uncollected waste. In the wake of climate change, Hong Kong is vulnerable to encountering unpredictable climate anomalies and conceivably severe disasters.

Therefore, this year's Summer School will shed light on "Resilient City Planner", allowing participants to learn and contribute to the building of a more sustainable and resilient Hong Kong. Most importantly, a series of guest lectures, workshops, site visits and capstone projects will equip them to become future leaders with a global vision and commitment to initiate positive changes.
